

War Spirit Inflames All Europe—Thousands of Serbs in U. S. Ready to Fight

POPE STRIVES TO PREVENT WAR

Pontiff Wires Franz Josef to Check Hostilities with Serbia.

EUROPE IS IN TURMOIL

Russia Ready to Go to Any Limit to Aid King Peter and Slav Races.

(Following is a summary of the situation in Europe, showing the positions assumed by the various nations on the eve of a threatened catastrophe. C. F. Bertelli, the writer, has been a student of international affairs for years and enjoys the friendship of European diplomatic leaders.—New Editor.)

Paris, July 26.—The whole structure of European peace is on the brink of collapse. Ten million men are waiting to be called under their respective flags, and in a few days all Europe may be aflame with war and thousands of smiling corn fields now awaiting the harvest may become the scene of blackest desolation. The assassination of the Archduke Franz Ferdinand and his wife has been the last drop needed to overflow the cup of bitterness which has been the reward of a long life devoted to the cause of peace, and now Franz Josef, the grand old man of Europe, has flashed his sword and to all appearances has thrown away the scabbard.

A Challenge to Russia. Behind the Emperor's action, which is an indirect but none the less extreme challenge to Russia, lies the steadfast resolution of the German races to sweep back the inrush of hordes of Slavs into Central Europe.

The dream of a greater Serbia, embodying all the Slav elements in Austria-Hungary, has been the bogey of the dual monarchy for the last five years. It is realized in Vienna that this Slav movement, which received a tremendous impetus from the Serbian successes in the Balkan war, and the unexpectedly aggressive attitude of the Emperor is a desperate throw in behalf of the waning Hungarian position. The consequences are frightful to contemplate. The gauntlet has been thrown down and we must take it up," said the Czar to his ministers today.

Outlook Is Black. Never since 1871 has there existed a blacker outlook, is the opinion of Georges Clemenceau, former premier of France and the greatest authority in the world on international politics. That Europe is about to sink into a welter of blood is the perspective that has caused Pope Pius X to flash a hurried message to Emperor Franz Josef, imploring him "not to stain his old age with blood."

In this the Pope has opened the only door through which Austria can with honor retreat from her menace to Serbia and thus save the world the most terrible catastrophe in human history. Franz Josef, as apostolic Emperor, and Pope of Jerusalem, has the right of dignity, has his head to the wishes of the supreme pontiff.

Count Berchtold, a minor Bismarck and author of the most brutal ultimatum ever issued, Austria's recent ultimatum to Serbia, conferred with the Emperor today, but refused to signify tonight whether the pope's appeal will be favorably answered.

Czar Ready to Fight. If Austria does not invade Serbia the Czar of Russia, as the father of all Slavs, will be bound to defend her. King Peter from being crushed by the dual monarchy, whose objective all along has been to obtain a road for itself through the Balkans and to seize Salonika.

Still badly shaken by the Japanese war, Russia in 1905 was forced to remain neutral when Austria declared her possession of Bosnia and Herzegovina, but now she is prepared for a titanic struggle.

After a meeting of all the bankers in St. Petersburg today, presided over by the director of the Imperial Bank, it was officially declared that "Russia's financial position will permit her to go to any limit."

Moreover, all the strikes which lately have unsettled Russian domestic affairs, were settled today spontaneously by the men themselves voting to return to work.

This great Russian empire presents a solid, united front. The army corps already have been mobilized. This is a reply to the state of siege declared by Austria. If shots have been fired the situation will be of the hand of Wilhelm, in whom lies the responsibility of a general European war. In the event of a general European war, in the event

of a general European war, in the event

of a general European war, in the event

of a general European war, in the event

of a general European war, in the event

of a general European war, in the event

of a general European war, in the event

of a general European war, in the event

of a general European war, in the event

of a general European war, in the event

ARMIES OF AUSTRIA AND SERBIA

Austria can put an army of 820,000 men in the field against little Serbia. Her peace establishment numbers 390,249 men, immediately available. The first line of the army is under the common government of Austria-Hungary and includes the troops raised in the annexed provinces of Bosnia and Herzegovina. The Austrian empire is divided into sixteen army corps districts. There are six permanent cavalry divisions, three of these on the Russian frontier, but eight could be mobilized in the event of war. Each army corps has about thirty-four thousand combatants and each cavalry division about four thousand combatants. The total strength of regulars in the field army is this 590,000 combatants, to which must be added the eight Austrian Landwehr and seven Honved, or Hungarian Landwehr, divisions, about 230,000 men.

The peace strength of the Serbian army amounts to 30,038, all raised in the available to make good losses. The amount to 95,000 men.

The following editorial translated into English for The Washington Herald by Soterios Nicholson, a Washington lawyer, appeared recently in Akropolis, the leading Greek newspaper of Athens. In this editorial Nikos Gabriellides, owner and editor of the paper, praises President Wilson for making possible the purchase of the two American battleships by Greece.

Mr. Gabriellides is dean of the Greek Newspaper Association and plays an important role in the political arena of Greece. The editorial reads:

"When Europe ceased producing statements of the caliber of Gladstone and Massin, civilization and peace and justice desired it that Woodrow Wilson should appear on the political arena of the United States of America, that country of quick progress, of bold invention, of skyscrapers shooting into the heights, of adventuresome enterprise, and of abounding wealth.

Liberty the American Principle. "It is as the result of superficial observation, one who is to suggest that civilization and wealth are the supreme duties in the Pantheon of the American people, we would in refutation, point him to President Wilson whose magnificent movement at where Greece was assured immunity from the attacks of a barbarous neighbor for four centuries has ruled over peoples to whom he was morally and intellectually inferior, and that now, once more, he is to disturb the Peace in the Balkans, whose act, I say, gives the lie to such suggestion.

The scholarly President of the United States, through his endeavors to uphold the rights of a nation which is in danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen. The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

The nation that in years past has recovered from the danger of being deprived of its liberty, has made it plain throughout the world that the principles for which, a few decades ago, his own people fought in the battles of emancipation of the negro, are still omnipotent forces in the minds of the country's statesmen.

RUSSIAN BEAR'S GROWL

Mingles with "Hoch" Serfdom of Austrians

Patriotic War Fire Thrills Hearts of Russians and Austrians in New York.

LOOK AT SERBIA AS A "PAWN"

New York, July 26.—Restaurants and cafes in the Russian, Hungarian, and Serbian sections of the city buzzed with excitement all day when it was rumored that a formal declaration of war had been made by Austria against Serbia.

In lower Second avenue and adjacent streets and in upper Yorkville, districts pre-empted by the subjects of Emperor Franz Josef, patriotism ran riot. In every coffee house, crowd of excited Hungarians gathered to discuss the situation. Pledges of fealty to the fatherland and stirring patriotic songs were frequently heard.

The militant spirit prevailed and was fanned into a blaze of patriotism by the excited speakers, whose telling of the glory of the dual monarchy was loudly cheered.

Copies of the latest war bulletins were eagerly read. The Russian element in lower Harlem was in a ferment. There was not one of the local children of the Czar but felt that the long-expected clash with Austria was imminent.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

The growl of the Russian bear was heard in their bearded throats. Imprecations against what they called the treachery of Austria and the selfishness of that nation were freely voiced. Serbia to them is but a pawn in the game, and while their sympathies are with the little Slav nation, they are ready to support the Russian position.

SAWS WAR IS DUE TO OFFENSE

By G. H. Shibley, Political Research Expert, Blames Lack of Suffrage.

SCORES "THE RULING FEW"

The bloodiest war ever, is predicted for Europe by George H. Shibley, director of the American Bureau of Political Research, unless the men of Austria and Germany rise up and demand suffrage.

The political serfdom of the masses is declared to be the cause of the impending war. A nation-wide industrial strike is suggested as the means of manhood suffrage.

"The real cause of the impending European war is the rule of the few in Austria-Hungary and Germany," said Mr. Shibley. "In nearly all of the European countries the people are in power. These free people are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself by declaring war against Serbia, so as to hurl the liberty-seeking subjects to the wall. The liberty-seeking subjects, on the other hand, are insisting on doing away with war, having passed a cessation of dreadnought building; whereas the German and Austrian Hungarians ruling few are bent with demands from the people of Germany to carry out the war."

"That is the situation. The oligarchy is protecting itself